Feelings . . .

*Feelings of confusion and Frustration. As the months
Went by time and tension
Seemed to lessen. The Stress became a little
More bearable because
Of the feeling of freedom
Yet to come — freedom
To live, to create, to
Advance and to prosper
In a future even Broader than might be Expected.*

*Feelings of joy
And happiness. The Noisy halls were Filled with warmth —
Beautiful faces;
People talking, laughing,
And enjoying life.
A great rainbow of Red and gold settled
Like a mist of joy.*

*Feelings of love and Togetherness. Feelings of one Another touching. Feelings of Reaching out for another, though
So far away. Feeling love for
A friend that could last for A lifetime.*

*Feelings of sharing
 The knowledge gained
 From day to day. As
 Some of us sat back
 And idled our
 Years away letting time
 Pass us by, we reached back
 To grasp the emptiness . . .
 The loneliness
 The loneliness
 That as individuals
 We could not Fulfill. The tender
 Voice and that
 Gentle, encouraging
 Push made our Stride just a Little more Confident.*

*Feelings of the past and
Feelings of the present
Will live in our hearts
Forever.*

FACULTY AND STAFF

*Feelings of appreciation . . .
Those who have helped us to make a start in life.
Sometimes we listened, sometimes
we didn't, but they were always there when we needed them.*

Feelings about the 1977 VALHALLA? Feeling overwhelmed. Feeling rushed and pressured. Feeling, at times, depressed, but feeling proud! The task was enormous, but hard work got the job done. Time was limited, but the final deadline was met. Emergencies intervened, but dependable people put in overtime. I have always felt that if something is to be done it is worth doing right. Not until editing the 1977 VALHALLA did I begin to develop the confidence and find the courage to meet such a challenge.

*Feelings, dreams . . . but alas!
Reality, the moment of Truth!
The moment when nothing is said. Feelings . . . Some of honor, some of happiness and contentment, and Some of loneliness. Many began to live their dream. Others just kept dreaming and dreaming. Yet, for all, the Feelings are there . . .
feelings of pride, tears of joy,
Years of memories . . . feelings.*
